LEGAL PROVISIONS ON RAGGING

The seriousness with which ragging is viewed is underscored by the way the Supreme Court in its landmark judgment in 2001 defines it:

Any disorderly conduct whether by words spoken or by an act which has an effect of teasing, treating or handling with rudeness any other student, indulging in rowdy or undisciplined activities which cause or is likely to cause annoyance, hardship or psychological harm or to rise fear or apprehension thereof in fresher or a junior student or asking the students to do any act or perform something which such student will not in the ordinary course do, and which has the effect of causing or generating a sense of shame or embarrassment so as to adversely affect the physique or psyche of a fresher or a junior student.

The Assam Prohibition of Ragging Act, 1999 views the issue with similar gravity and it is necessary for the student to know of its stand because, beyond the punitive measures within the institution of expulsion and fine, if any criminal proceedings are instituted against a student, the legal provisions of Assam Act, 1999, will apply. This Act defines ragging in the following manner:

Either display of noisy or disorderly conduct or doing of any act which causes or is likely to cause social, physical or physiological harm or raise apprehension, or fear or shame or embarrassment to any student in any educational institution and includes teasing, abusing of, playing practical jokes or on causing hurt to, such students or asking the student to do any act or perform something which student will not, in the ordinary course, willingly do.
